Carl Patton became president of Georgia State University on July 1, 1992. With more than 28,000 students in 2008-09, Georgia State is one of the nation’s largest urban research universities.

With his expertise as an academic leader and urban planner, Patton has helped Georgia State become a vital part of the downtown Atlanta community. He launched a university-wide planning effort that produced the Main Street Master Plan. With phase one of the plan complete and the $1-billion phase two underway, this innovative strategy continues to increase the university’s footprint in the downtown community and shape the university’s future growth. Key components of the plan include:

- Establishing a campus identity based on a central campus corridor
- Investing in key research areas to advance knowledge and discovery
- Increasing the university’s involvement with the downtown community
- Securing private funding sources to supplement state allocations for building projects

Patton’s focus on recruitment of world-class faculty, strengthened academic programs and improved campus infrastructure continues to increase recognition for Georgia State through national rankings, peer journals and media reports.

“The spirit of innovation thrives at Georgia State,” says Patton. “Through teaching, research, scholarly activities, and service, Georgia State is a source of limitless potential for individual development and the improvement of our society.”

The list of renovations and new construction completed since his appointment includes the Rialto Center for the Arts, Haas-Howell and Standard Buildings, J. Mack Robinson College of Business in the former C&S bank headquarters, the Bennett A. Brown Commerce Building, North Metro Center, Helen M. Aderhold Learning Center, Student Center, Student Recreation Center, the former Wachovia Bank Building that houses the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies, the 450-bed University Lofts, and the 2,000-bed University Commons that opened in August 2007. On the horizon are a new University Science Park, more student housing, a new Business and Law Professional Center and a new Humanities Building.

Patton is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati with a bachelor of science degree in community planning. He also holds doctoral and master’s degrees in public policy from the University of California at Berkeley as well as master’s degrees in urban planning and public administration from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

Before coming to Georgia State, Patton previously served as Vice President for academic affairs at the University of Toledo, and he held faculty and administrative positions at the University of Illinois and the University of Wisconsin.

Patton serves on the boards of many organizations dedicated to strengthening the downtown community. He and his wife, Gretchen, live in a downtown loft within walking distance of his campus office. They have two children and three grandchildren.
Now in her fourth year as Director of Athletics, Mary McElroy has brought tremendous optimism, organization and leadership as well as a tireless work ethic to Georgia State University athletics.

Hired in July 2005 by President Carl Patton, McElroy is leading the Panther program to unprecedented heights and raising the profile of Georgia State athletics.

Her most widely recognized achievement to date has been successfully launching a football program at Georgia State, to begin play in 2010, and then hiring the highly-respected Bill Curry to be the Panthers’ first head coach. In Curry, she lured a name that is instantly recognizable and a coach with 17 years of experience in the Atlantic Coast Conference and Southeastern Conference, including Coach of the Year awards in both leagues.

McElroy scored another coup when she hired Rod Barnes in March 2007 to rebuild Georgia State basketball. The former head coach at Mississippi and 2001 SEC Coach of the Year immediately brought renewed interest and energy to the program, and now Barnes has the Panthers poised for success in year two.

With Curry and Barnes, Georgia State now has former National Coach of the Year honorees guiding its two most high-profile sports. Curry received the Bobby Dodd Award in 1989 while at Alabama, and Barnes won the Naismith Award in 2001 after leading Ole Miss to the NCAA Sweet 16.

Other significant accomplishments in McElroy’s first three years include dramatic increases in athletics fundraising, numerous facilities upgrades, strong academic performance by Panther student-athletes, and a smooth transition to the Colonial Athletic Association, where Georgia State moved in 2005-06.

The former Marine Corps Captain, 1987 graduate of the Naval Academy and 2000 graduate of Georgia Tech’s MBA program has been recognized by her peers. In 2006, the National Association of Collegiate Women Athletic Administrators (NACWAA) named McElroy as the NCAA Division I-AAA Administrator of the Year. In 2008, she was recognized by the Black Coaches and Administrators (BCA) at their annual convention, for advancing sports and athletes in the Atlanta area.

McElroy’s vision for Georgia State to be “the student-athlete’s first choice” is being realized as the program grows in stature within the CAA, around Atlanta and the state of Georgia, and on the national level.

In all sports, Georgia State student-athletes have responded to the higher level of competition in the CAA. Athletics highlights in McElroy’s first three years include CAA team titles and NCAA berths in men’s and women’s golf and men’s tennis as well as numerous individual titles in golf, track and field and cross country. In 2007-08 alone, Georgia State featured the CAA Athlete of the Year in six different sports.

The addition of football and women’s lacrosse in 2010 will give Georgia State 18 sports, including eight men’s teams and 10 women’s programs, and McElroy is exploring additional opportunities for women. But as the athletics department has grown, so has the level of support for existing sports programs under McElroy’s leadership.

Nowhere has McElroy’s vision been more evident than in Georgia State’s growing facilities as she seeks to provide first-class venues that will benefit student-athletes and fans alike.

A $5 million plan for the development of the Panthersville Athletics Complex is nearing completion. In 2007, a new soccer field was completed, including a grandstand, press box and scoreboard. This fall, lights and a second playing field will be added, with plans for a locker room facility, creating a first-class venue for men’s and women’s soccer as well as the future women’s lacrosse program. Upgrades are ongoing for the softball and baseball facilities also located at Panthersville.

At the Georgia State Sports Arena, a new playing floor and an escalator have been added for 2008-09, and a videoboard was installed in 2006. Further development plans call for a football practice site and expanded venues at the Sports Arena for strength and conditioning, athletic training and academic support.

Georgia State student-athletes are challenged to excel in the classroom and are provided with a support system to effectively balance academics and athletics. The Panthers have responded, achieving a grade point average of better than 2.93 for the 2007-08 academic year and boosting their combined cumulative mark to 2.93. Both figures exceed the corresponding marks for the overall student body.

More than 100 student-athletes earned the CAA Commissioner’s Academic Award in 2007-08, and Georgia State boasted the CAA Scholar-Athlete of the Year in seven of 15 possible sports.

McElroy’s athletic management career began in 1992 at the Naval Academy, where she worked her way up to Assistant Athletic Director and Senior Woman Administrator while overseeing compliance for 29 sports. She also served a stint as Director of Alumni Services at Navy.

From 1999 until her appointment at Georgia State, McElroy was part of the athletic management team at Georgia Tech. After first serving as Director of Compliance, she left Georgia Tech as Senior Associate Director of Athletics and Senior Woman Administrator.

McElroy was appointed to the NCAA Management Council in 2005, and was a member of the NCAA Volleyball Committee. Moving to the CAA, McElroy was reappointed to the NCAA Management Council in 2006 and was elected to serve on the Board of Directors for NACWAA. When the NCAA restructured in 2008, McElroy was appointed to the newly-created Leadership Council, the NCAA’s highest committee for athletic administrators, charged with framing and reviewing policy for the macro-level issues confronting the NCAA.

McElroy served as tournament manager for the 2003 NCAA Women’s Final Four in Atlanta, and she was also on the Atlanta Local Organizing Committee for the NCAA Men’s Final Fours in Atlanta in 2002 and 2007.

As a student at the Naval Academy, McElroy played varsity basketball in the CAA. A native of Great Mills, Md., she is married to a fellow Naval Academy graduate, Terry (’86), and they have two sons, Darrin (18) and Austin (15).

2008-09 GEORGIA STATE PANTHERS  •  169
EVERY GAME ON 100,000-WATT WRAS-FM

All Georgia State basketball games are broadcast live on 100,000-watt WRAS-FM 88.5 radio. All games can also be heard live on the Internet at www.wras.org.

Now in his 26th season, Dave Cohen is the Voice of the Georgia State Panthers. He has broadcast approximately 800 Panther games.

Former Georgia State player Rodney Turner joined the broadcast last season as color analyst. Turner played for the Panthers from 1986-89.

Each broadcast begins 30 minutes before tipoff with Panther Sports Talk. Then, 15 minutes prior to tipoff, the Panthers Pre-Game Show features Cohen and head coach Rod Barnes.

Also assisting Cohen on the Georgia State broadcasts as studio hosts are Gary Lowe, Alex Merlo, Orin Brown, Jason Hanes, Matthew Simmons, Chris Culwell, Edgar Treiguts, Mark Gilmore and Sheldon Thompson.

In addition to calling the play-by-play for every men’s basketball game, Cohen is also in his 11th year as Georgia State's Broadcast Coordinator, overseeing the radio broadcasts for women's basketball, baseball and other events. He also works in the Georgia State University Department of Alumni Relations.

A native of Lowell, Mass., and a graduate of Georgia State, Dave is married to Carol Cohen, a former Georgia State associate athletic director who now works in the University’s academic advisement center. The couple has two sons.

GEORGIA STATE ON TV EIGHT TIMES

The Panthers will play a minimum of eight games on television during the 2008-09 season.

Georgia State's Jan. 13 game at Old Dominion will be nationally on ESPNU.

In addition to the ESPN exposure, Georgia State will also appear on regional television at least seven times on Comcast Sports Southeast (CSS). CSS is a 24-hour regional sports network serving approximately 5.8 million cable subscribers across twelve Southeastern states. The games will appear in additional markets throughout the CAA region as part of the Colonial Athletic Association television package.

Georgia State's TV Games:
Feb. 13 Florida State ...............4 p.m. CSS
Jan. 7 Northeastern .............7 p.m. CSS
Jan. 13 at Old Dominion .......9 p.m. ESPNU
Jan. 21 VCU............................7 p.m. CSS

Katarina Zoricic reached the quarterfinals of the NCAA Doubles Championship in 2008 to earn All-America status for the second straight season, and Georgia State golfer Joel Sjoholm placed 13th overall at the NCAA Men’s Golf Championship.

CAA member institutions are committed to excellence in the classroom. The Colonial Academic Alliance was created in 2002 by the league’s presidents with a goal of expanding their partnership to all aspects of university life outside of intercollegiate athletics. Among the programs already established are an undergraduate research conference, coordination of study abroad programs and granting visiting academic status to student-athletes traveling to an away contest so that they have access to libraries, academic resource centers and computer labs.

In 2002, two faculty members from CAA institutions were awarded academia’s most coveted distinction – the Nobel Prize. John B. Fenn, a research professor in the Department of Chemistry at Virginia Commonwealth University, received the Nobel Prize for chemistry, and Vernon Smith, a professor of economics and law at George Mason University, shared the Nobel Prize in economic sciences.

Commissioner Thomas E. Yeager has guided the CAA since its inception. The conference traces its roots back to 1983 when three of its current members - George Mason University, James Madison University, and the College of William and Mary - were aligned with East Carolina University, the United States Naval Academy and the University of Richmond as a basketball league (ECAC South). During the next two years, the league added 11 sports, acquired two new members (the University of North Carolina at Wilmington and American University) and decided to form a new association. The transformation from ECAC South to CAA took place on June 6, 1985. Charter members George Mason, James Madison, UNC Wilmington and William and Mary were joined by Old Dominion University in 1991 and by Virginia Commonwealth University in 1995. The conference added the University of Delaware, Drexel University, Hofstra University and Towson University in 2001. Georgia State University and Northeastern University became members of the conference on July 1, 2005.

From all-star athletes to Nobel Prize winning faculty, the CAA takes great pride in producing performers who stand out both on the playing field and in the classroom.
A total of 162 teams representing 17 collegiate athletic conferences will compete in the two-day event (February 20-21), with the entire ESPNU BracketBusters slate of matchups to be announced on February 2. Drexel, James Madison, UNC-Wilmington, Old Dominion, Towson and William and Mary will serve as host schools, while Delaware, George Mason, Georgia State, Hofstra, Northeastern and VCU will play on the road.

Thirteen of the 51 games will be televised, with six contests on ESPN2, five on ESPNU and two on ESPN360.com. Game times and network assignments will be announced on February 9.

The CAA has had tremendous success in BracketBusters, with the league posting an 8-3 record in televised games over the past four years. CAA teams have registered some of the most impressive victories in the event, including George Mason’s triumph at Wichita State in 2006, Drexel beating Creighton on the road in 2007 and VCU winning at Akron in 2008.
